LBV 46.10.1

replied Dec. 5, saying the bird is dead

New York Zoological Park,

WILLIAM T. HORNADAY, DIRECTOR.

183d Street & Southern Boulevard,

New York, Dec. 4th 190 6.

Dear Mr. Brewster;-

I should indeed be glad to have the live woodcock. If you send it by express in a small box with one side covered with wire and put cloth or cheese-cloth outside of that, the bird will get air enough and yet not be tempted to dash its head against any direct light as would be the case if one side were covered only with wire. I enclose a label for the box. If you can send it by American Express it will reach us quickly and w will not need care on the road, during that short period.

I have none of these birds at present in the collection.

Sincerely yours,

C. William Beebe

Beebe, C.W.

Dec. 4, 06

DEPARTMENT OF ORNITHOLOGY
NEW YORK ZOOLOGICAL PARK

Jan 19. 1907.

My dear Mr Brewster:-

Can you let me have a copy of your description of Otus yanteusi as published I believe in Bull. Mus. Comp. Zool, XLI.

Sincerely yours

C. William Beebe